LaRouche, and by a chilling report on the advance toward power of the unspakably savage Shining Path band in Peru;

- the background of the evangelization of the New World in the Italian Renaissance; the Portuguese navigators; and the science and politics behind Columbus's successful crossing of the Atlantic in 1492; as well as the special contributions of Spain and the art, architecture, and music of Spanish dominions in the New World;
- a determined battle against the malignant lies of the Black Legend; and
- the science of Christian economy, developing especially the ideas of Lyndon LaRouche in his recent book, and amplifying these with discussion of the epistemology of science, music, the history of mercantilism in Ibero-America, and such key programs as LaRouche's project to colonize the moon and his "Operation Juarez" proposal to bury the International Monetary Fund and build a just, New World Economic Order.

---

At last!

A book about CFCs and ozone that presents scientific evidence instead of hysteria.

THE HOLES IN THE OZONE SCARE

The Scientific Evidence That the Sky Isn't Falling

by Rogelio A. Maduro and Ralf Schauerhammer

$15 357 pages illustrated, with index.

Send check or money order (U.S. currency only) to

21ST CENTURY

Dept. F, P.O. Box 16285,
Washington, D.C. 20041.

Bookstores, write for prices on bulk orders.

---

UNCED Earth Summit Meets Opposition

The U.N. Conference on Environment and Development, dubbed the Eco-92 "Earth Summit," which took place June 1-12 in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, brought into focus the battle between the forces of Western Christian civilization and those who are attempting to institutionalize an anti-human, extreme environmentalist New World Order. Fundamental to the issues raised, is whether man was created in the image of the living God (imago viva Dei,) and endowed with the responsibility to exercise dominion over the Earth and all other species, as proclaimed in the Book of Genesis; or, if we are only another species, whose multiplication and domination of the Earth is threatening the "biosphere" with extinction.

Crafted by the world's leading Malthusians, including Britain's Prince Philip, the Club of Rome, Jacques Cousteau, and the World Wide Fund For Nature, the conference was intended to bludgeon the developing-sector nations into adopting a policy of forced population reduction, while the advanced sector is made to slash its use of high technology for energy production and industry.

The summit did not fully succeed in its intent, however, because of the strong resistance of many developing-nation leaders, who smell neo-colonialism as the real motive of the so-called environmentalists; combined with the Vatican's staunch opposition to any measures regarding population control; and an aggressive organizing presence by pro-science advocates, including associates and co-thinkers of American presidential candidate Lyndon LaRouche.

Strong Resistance

The strongest intervention against the anti-scientific atmosphere dominating the conference was made June 6, at a press conference called by 21st Century Science & Technology magazine, whose editors are co-thinkers of Lyndon LaRouche. Here, Dr. Dixy Lee Ray, former governor of Washington State, announced the publication of the newly released The Holes in the Ozone Scare [see review this issue]. Dr. Ray, who is also the former head of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission and a marine biologist, presented the scientific evidence that contradicts the scare scenarios retailed by the world media, focusing on the natural causes of the ozone cycle in the atmosphere, and the real role of carbon dioxide in the so-called greenhouse effect. Her boldness in attacking these environmentalist shibboleths led the daily Journal do Brasil to label her "the big bad wolf" of Eco-92.

In a subsequent interview published in O Estado de Sao Paulo, Dr. Ray said, "We have to truly ask ourselves, what prevented development from occurring in the South?" Her answer: economics, and science and technology. The economics "involves the International Monetary Fund and development projects that were in fact controlled and directed by the international organizations." As to science, "what makes a country economically developed is industrialization and energy . . . . When I speak of energy, I mean electricity . . . . Nuclear energy is safe, economical, and the best way to produce electricity that we know of."

At her press conference, Dr. Ray reported that many scientists agree with her opposition to the Summit, as witnessed by the fact that 264 leading world scientists had issued a call, published June 1 in the Wall Street Journal, warning of the "emergence of an irrational ideology which . . . impedes economic and social development." The scientists' call asserts that "humanity has always progressed by increasingly harnessing Nature to its needs . . . . The greatest evils which stalk our Earth are ignorance and oppression."

Vatican vs. Population Control

The hardline opposition to population control measures exercised by the Vatican at the conference virtually nullified all attempts to ram those measures through. In its position paper for the summit, the Vatican denounced population control proposals as substitutes "for justice and development in the developing countries." Population growth is seldom the primary cause of environmental problems, the paper stated, and "economic aid for the advancement of peoples should not be conditioned on acceptance of programs of contraception, sterilization, or abortion." Such policies are a "violation of human rights" and "promote racist tendencies."

The document also made the following points: 1) War is an increasingly serious cause of environmental damage; 2) States have an obligation to ensure an equitable transfer of appropriate technology to developing nations; and 3) The goods of the earth are for the benefit of all, and all peoples have a right to fundamental access to those goods.

Kissinger and NSSM 200

The impact of the exposé by associates of Lyndon LaRouche of the program of forced sterilization of Brazilian women—carried out under the aegis of Henry Kissinger's infamous National Security Study Memorandum 200—was reflected in a June 7 Washington Post wire from the summit.

"Don't say 'population control' around here," the article began. "'Control' bespeaks coercion, forced sterilization, and supposed First World fears of a dark-skinned planet. Don't even say 'population' too much—it's the word that never got credentials at the official Earth Summit."

Noting a leaflet issued by the Campaign Against Population Control, the article stated, in part, "A throng jams into another tent to hear more horror stories about the dangers of population control. A Brazilian senator says such programs have resulted in the involuntary sterilization of Brazilian women. The sponsor of this panel discussion, the State Council of Women's Rights, distributes a flyer arguing that the sterilizations emerge from a conspiracy by Henry Kissinger and the National Security Council to limit the birthrate in the Third World 'so as to not [lead to the] degeneration of the Anglo-Saxon race.'"

---

European Parliament Denounces U.S. Executions

On June 11, the European Parliament in Strasbourg passed a resolution denouncing the "increasing number of executions over the recent period" in the U.S. The resolution expressed concern at the lack of leniency shown to persons who have committed crimes during adolescence or are mentally impaired, and shock at the May 21 execution in Virginia of Roger Coleman, "whose guilt has been put into serious doubt by many leading American figures." It stressed that, "many mistakes have been made in connection with the death penalty, [which] can never be rectified."

The resolution concludes by calling for the "revocation" of the death penalty in all countries of the world and urges all U.S. government officials "to prevent executions from being carried out" and all candidates for office in the U.S. "to set an example by rejecting the application of the death penalty."

LaRouche Thanks North Dakota Voters

After preliminary results in the June 9 North Dakota Democratic presidential primary indicated that he was the victor, Lyndon LaRouche issued a statement thanking the voters. He stated that the vote "means that the issues which I have raised in the course of the campaign, will be forced to the surface and must be debated and discussed at the highest level."

LaRouche drew particular attention to the world food crisis: "Reports are that only one-third of the world's population is properly nourished. That means, in fact that two-thirds of the entire population of this planet, over 3 billion people, are not properly nourished. In fact, as I know, many of them are starving to death. And yet, powerful influences in the grain cartels, in the Agriculture Department and elsewhere in Washington and other locations, are savagely cutting the production of food."

Although the official vote tally later showed H. Ross Perot to be the victor with 28 percent of the vote, LaRouche nonetheless placed second with 21 percent of the ballots cast.