A world-historic individual, 91-year-old American Civil Rights leader and vice-chairman of the Schiller Institute, Amelia Boynton Robinson, spoke at a historic demonstration against the Iraq war in Leipzig, Germany on March 31. The Leipzig weekly “Monday demonstrations,” which 13 years ago helped to bring down the Berlin Wall, have begun again, this time to bring down the imperial war policy; and Mrs. Robinson told the 50,000 demonstrators that U.S. Presidential pre-candidate Lyndon LaRouche was their leader to do it.

“Greetings from the other America!” were the opening words of Amelia Robinson’s speech, which rang out in front of the Leipzig Opera House, recalling memories of the 1963 speech of Dr. Martin Luther King, and of Marian Anderson’s 1939 concert at the Lincoln Memorial. Mrs. Robinson told the 50,000 demonstrators that U.S. Presidential pre-candidate Lyndon LaRouche was their leader to do it.

The highpoint of excitement on the question of culture came with the final panel, entitled “The Second American Revolution.” This featured six young people from Germany, France, and the United States, who presented the method of thinking being used by the LaRouche Youth Movement in the United States, to build a new Renaissance, and to put Lyndon LaRouche into the Presidency. While the topics ranged from Jeanne d’Arc, to Gauss’s Fundamental Theorem, to economics, the subject was clearly beyond the particulars: developing a youth movement unlike any other, which has the competence to create a future—and worldwide—continuous Renaissance.

The conference was followed by a youth cadre school, which drew about 60 young people, many of whom proceeded to go to the German capital, Berlin, for a political organizing “week of action.”

Revive Drive For a Just, New Economic Order!

On May 26, a conference on the “World Situation after the Iraq War” in the Indian city of Bangalore, that nation’s center of science and technology, provided the occasion for leading Democratic Presidential pre-candidate Lyndon LaRouche to relaunch a drive for a concert of nations to create a just, new world economic order.

The conference was attended by 240 delegates from all over India, as well as foreign guests and speakers from nations such as Egypt and China. It was sponsored by the Centre for Social Justice of India, and Helga Zepp LaRouche’s Schiller Institute.

Inaugurating the proceedings was Shri K. Natwar Singh, who was the Secretary General of the Non-Aligned Movement when Prime Minister Indira Gandhi hosted that movement’s summit in New Delhi in 1983. Singh, currently a Member of Parliament from the Congress Party, argued for starting a dialogue with the United States to end its “hyper-power” drive. He also relayed wishes for the success of the conference from Congress Party chairwoman Sonia Gandhi.

Lyndon LaRouche’s address, and a hopeful applause, and with great curiosity about LaRouche. She had been brought to the famous Augustus Square in front of Leipzig’s St. Nikolai Church to speak, through the intervention of the international LaRouche Youth Movement; and one of its organizers, Abdul Ali of Philadelphia, came up to join her on the stage, where together they inspired the demonstrators to sing the Civil Rights spirituals, “Oh Freedom” and “This Little Light of Mine,” Mrs. Robinson’s personal favorite.

Defeating the Coup

Mr. LaRouche made an extremely courageous and forthright statement on Vice President Dick Cheney’s drive to follow in the path of Adolf Hitler in the United States, and the inevitable catastrophe which will ensue, if we do not rapidly stop and reverse this fascist drive from inside the United States. Without a successful counter-coup in the United States, to eliminate the neo-conservatives’ control over President George W. Bush, the world is looking at “inevitable world nuclear warfare,” LaRouche said.

But, the best way to avoid this, LaRouche said, was not a “peace movement,” but a return to the great efforts of the Non-Aligned Nations, demonstrated in Colombo, Sri Lanka in 1976, to establish a new, just world economic order, based on technology transfer and dramatic infrastructure development. This would set the world on the path of true development. Now, this movement must be led by a community of nations.
